

RMA AND DOA GUIDELINES

(Return Material Authorization and Dead on Arrival)

Distributors, resellers, and system integrators can contact our technical support engineers by phone, fax, or email for assistance. End users will not be supported without prior escalation. VisioLogix currently only services RMA requests from authorized distributors. Resellers, system integrators, and end users will need to return merchandise to their authorized VisioLogix distributor.

To check the status of an existing RMA or warranty information, distributors can contact our RMA personnel by phone or email. End users may only contact our support lines through escalation or for a distributor look up. An RMA number is necessary for RMA status updates and the serial number is necessary for warranty or distributor information. As a benefit to our customers, VisioLogix will provide technical support beyond the warranty period of a purchased product for a small nominal fee, up to the time frame in which the product becomes phased out.

RMA for Product Returns

If a repair is required, the customer must request a RMA number with VisioLogix. All returns must be accompanied by the RMA number and freight must be prepaid. The RMA number is valid for 30 days and customer must re-obtain the RMA number if not used within this time period. VisioLogix will not accept any unauthorized returns or freight collect return. Unauthorized or freight collect returns will result in the return of the entire shipment, even if a portion of it has an RMA, to the sender at their expense. If a returned product contains parts that are no longer available or repairable, VisioLogix will contact the customer to discuss a resolution.
